Biographical Information

Charles Haines attended Princeton University and graduated in 1921. During his time there, he was on the varsity crew and a member of Cap and Gown and the Christian Association. After graduation, he taught two years at missionary school in China. Afterwards, he worked for various steel companies in the greater Philadelphia Area: Bethlehem Steel Co., Lukens Steel Co. (founded by one of his ancestors), and finally Haines Gauge Co., which he and his brother, Robert, took over from their father in 1932. It specialized in gauges from steel rolling mills. In November 1933, Charles Haines and Margery Speakman married. They sold the company in 1941 and Charles and Margery devoted the next 50 years of their lives to the Moral Rearmament, a world organization that promotes spiritual and ethical change among individuals and governments. They also helped found the Caux, Switzerland Conference Center, which hosts conferences for world leaders and government officials. Margery died in February 1996. Charles died in March 1996 from the effects of a stroke at the age of 97.
